Cali and veterinarian Dr. Melinda D. Merck

When a 5-month-old puppy named Cali was horribly abused for four days, support provided by our Partners in Protection allowed us to provide vital legal assistance to the prosecutor in Cali's case, resulting in her abuser being found guilty of his crime. His sentence included mandatory forfeiture — clearing the way for Cali to be adopted into a better home, payment of costs for veterinary care, and a one-year ban on possessing animals.

That's the impact Partners in Protection have on animals.

Every day, animals like Cali are abused and killed by the people entrusted with their care and well-being. And the law does not always protect animals from harm, nor ensure that animal abusers are held accountable for their cruelty. That's why animals need us fighting to protect them...why they need you.
